DETAILED ACTION

Drawings

1. The Drawings filed 2/28/00 have been approved by the Draftsperson.

Specification

2. The abstract of the disclosure is objected to because it does not describe the claimed invention. The claimed invention is directed to plant cells and plants, not to polypeptides.

Correction is required. See MPEP § 608.01(b).

3. The title of the invention is not descriptive. A new title is required that is clearly indicative of the invention to which the claims are directed. Specifically, the title should recite that the invention is directed to plant cells and plants, not to polypeptides.

4. This application is informal in the arrangement of the specification. The following guidelines illustrate the preferred layout and content for patent applications. These guidelines are suggested for the applicant's use.

Arrangement of the Specification

The following order or arrangement is preferred in framing the specification and, except for the reference to "Microfiche Appendix" and the drawings, each of the lettered items should appear in upper case, without underlining or bold type, as section headings. If no text follows the section heading, the phrase "Not Applicable" should follow the section heading:

- (a) Title of the Invention.
- (b) Cross-References to Related Applications.
- (c) Statement Regarding Federally Sponsored Research or Development.
- (d) Reference to a "Microfiche Appendix" (see 37 CFR 1.96).

Art Unit: 1638

- (e) Background of the Invention.
 - 1. Field of the Invention.
 - 2. Description of the Related Art including information disclosed under 37 CFR 1.97 and 1.98.
- (f) Summary of the Invention.
- (g) Brief Description of the Drawing(s).
- (h) Detailed Description of the Invention.
- (i) Claim or Claims (commencing on a separate sheet).
- (j) Abstract of the Disclosure (commencing on a separate sheet).
- (k) Drawings.
- (l) Sequence Listing (see 37 CFR 1.821-1.825).

In particular, the subheading "Brief Description of the Drawings" should be inserted, and the subheading "Detailed Description of the Invention" should be deleted from its present location and reinserted after the "Brief Description of the Drawings" section.

Double Patenting

5. The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. See In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and, In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent is shown to be commonly owned with this application. See 37 CFR 1.130(b).

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

6. Claims 1-15 are rejected under the judicially created doctrine of obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 9-12 of U.S. Patent No. 5,824,774. Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because the plant cells and plants comprising a nucleic acid molecule encoding a chimeric isoprenoid synthase polypeptide of the instant invention are obvious in view of the claims to DNA encoding a chimeric isoprenoid synthase polypeptide, and cells comprising the DNA of the issued patent. It would have been obvious to transform plant cells, in particular, because the claimed DNAs are from plants (Claim 5). It further would have been obvious to regenerate transgenic plants from the transformed plant cells, in view of the knowledge of plant transformation and regeneration methods in the art.

7. Claims 1-15 are rejected under the judicially created doctrine of obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 1-10 of U.S. Patent No. 6,072,045. Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because the plant cells and plants comprising a nucleic acid molecule encoding a chimeric isoprenoid synthase polypeptide of the instant invention are obvious in view of the claims to a nucleic acid molecule encoding a chimeric isoprenoid synthase polypeptide, and cells comprising the nucleic acid molecule of the issued patent. It would have been obvious to transform plant cells, instead of bacterial or yeast cells, because the disclosed nucleic acid molecules are from plants. It further would have been obvious to regenerate transgenic plants from the transformed plant cells, in view of the knowledge of plant transformation and regeneration methods in the art.
